

UNICEF AT SCHOOL DECEMBER FUNDRAISING

#BakeForSYRIA at your school

We're asking schools to bake a real difference for Syrian children this winter. Use our recipe cards to make special Syrian shortbread Barazek biscuits, or simply ask classes to bake and sell their favourite treats at your school's carol concert, nativity play or Christmas fair. You could even target hungry parents at the school gates! Download your #BakeForSYRIA materials from unicef.uk/schoolsbake

Recognise and celebrate human rights

December 10 is International Human Rights Day – bring human rights into your classroom using some of our specially-made Rights Respecting Schools resources. Empower pupils to realise their rights, embedding global citizenship values.

Christmas movie club

December evenings go hand in hand with Christmas film marathons. Set up some comfy chairs in the school hall and screen Christmas films on a projector for a £1.50 ticket. The Santa Clause, Miracle on 34th Street, Home Alone, The Muppet Christmas Carol and It's a Wonderful Life are all classics to share with your class. Offer mince pies and mulled grape juice on the door, as an extra treat.

Arty advent collection

Find some empty jars and have a 'paint and make' session in class, having students transform them into beautifully festive collection jars. During the advent period, ask your class to try and fill the jars with coins. All the money you collect will help keep children safe, warm and happy this winter.

£100 could provide heating for a child-friendly space in a refugee camp, bringing safety, warmth and happiness to many children.
