MAY FUNDRAISING IDEAS

Unicef's Day for Change

It's finally here! 24 May 2017 is Unicef UK's official Day for Change. Make sure your school is signed up, and put the fun into fundraising. Use our online resources to teach students about the transformative power of nutrition, and inspire everyone to change something about the school day and raise vital funds. Our fundraising kit is full of tools and ideas to help you.

Getting those 10,000 steps

Get your walking shoes ready – it's National Walking Month! Why not organise a sponsored walk around your local community? You could invite families, community members and even pupils' pet dogs to come along! Keep fit and help protect children in danger.

It's raining socks ...

It's finally time to put those odd socks to good use. To mark National Lost Sock Day on 9 May, why not get your pupils to give their old odd socks a new lease of life? Ask them to make sock puppets and put on a puppet show for parents, carers and friends. Clearly label a collection jar and ask everyone to donate a coin to support Unicef's work.

International Day of Families

On 15 May, mark International Day of Families by celebrating Article 7 of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. Ask students to invite parents, grandparents, carers and siblings to a picnic at your school to celebrate everyone's family – plus, use our Day for Change recipes to make special tasty treats. Ask everyone to donate a coin to support children living with malnutrition.

Test the Teacher

Exam season is upon us ... don't leave all the revision to the students! Put your musical, historical and general knowledge to the test. Arrange a quiz for school staff and families, asking everyone to donate £3 to enter; the winning team can keep half the pot, with the rest donated to Unicef.

£150 could train a health worker to treat and prevent child malnutrition in Liberia.

Well done,
Top marks! Your support does so much to help Unicef keep children safe. Keep up the brilliant work.
